

Fast Future Research

Fast Future are considered industry leaders in researching and advising on key trends and developments in the sector. Fast Future run the groundbreaking study on the Future of Travel and Tourism in the Middle East - an ongoing programme of research into industry investment across the region. They provide clients with a wide range of research and consultancy services designed to provide clear strategic and operational insights to support planning, marketing and new project development. Key services include:

- Market research
- Industry analysis
- Trend scanning and analysis
- Development of market scenarios
- Competitor analysis
- Acquisition and partner search and evaluation
- Strategy development
- Boardroom briefings
- Bespoke consultancy projects

Fast Future is led by award winning speaker Rohit Talwar who is considered the leading travel industry futurist. Rohit delivers speeches, research and consultancy to industry forums and clients in over 35 countries around the world.

Rohit Talwar